THE MCKINLEY PRINCIPLE

Powerful Speech of the President Delivered in Boston.

Has Confidence in the American People—The Philippines Will be Held As the People Direct.

Boston, Feb. 16.—President William McKinley arrived in Boston today to be the guest of the Home Market Club at a banquet in his honor at Mechanics' Hall. It was the largest banquet ever arranged in this country, the exact number of persons who were served being 1,914.

There was great enthusiasm when the dinner had been concluded. Governor Wolcott, who presided, and Major Quincy, made brief addresses, welcoming the President. President McKinley was then introduced and spoke in part as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: The years go quickly. It seems not so long, but it is in fact six years since it was my honor to be a guest of the Home Market Club. Much has happened in the intervening time.
Issues which were then engaging us have been settled or put aside for larger and more absorbing ones. Domestic conditions have improved and are generally satisfactory....

I do not know why in the year 1899 this republic has unexpectedly had placed before it might problems which it must face and meet. They have come and are here, and they could not be kept away. Many who were impatient for the conflict a year ago, apparently heedless of its larger result, were the first to cry out against the far-reaching consequences of their own acts. Those of us who dreaded war most, and whose every effort was directed to prevent it, had fears of new and grave problems which might follow its inauguration. The evolution of events to which no man could control brought these problems upon us. Certain it is that they have not come through any fault on our part, but as a high obligation, and we meet them with a clear conscience and unselfish purpose and with good, hearty resolve to undertake their solution.

THE WAR AND ITS RESULTS.
"War was declared in April, 1898, with practical unanimity by the Congress, and, once upon us, was sustained by like unanimity among the people...."

"It was the war of the undivided nation.
"Every great act in its progress from Manila to Santiago, from Guam to Porto Rico, met universal and hearty commendation.
The protocol commanded the practically unanimous approval of the American people. It was welcomed by every lover of peace beneath the flag."

"The Philippines, like Cuba and Porto Rico, were intrusted to our hands by the war, and to that great trust, under the province of God and in the name of human progress and civilization, we are committed. It is a trust we have not sought; it is not a trust from which we will flinch...."

"What nation was ever able to write an accurate programme of the war upon which it was entering, much less decree in advance the scope of its results? Congress can declare war, but a higher power decrees its bounds and fix its relations and responsibilities.
The President can direct the movements of soldiers on the field and fleets upon the sea, but he cannot foresee the close of such movements or prescribe their limits. He cannot anticipate or avoid the consequences, but he must meet them. No accurate map of nations engaged in war can be traced until the war is over, nor can the measure of responsibility be fixed till the last gun is fired and the verdict embodied in the stipulations of peace."

AMERICA WILL KEEP PHILIPPINES.
"We hear no complaint of the relations created by this Government, and the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico."

"There are some, however, who regard the Philippines as in a different relation, but whatever variety of views there may be on this phase of the question, there is universal agreement that the Philippines shall not be turned back to Spain. No true American consents to that.

"Even if unwilling to accept them ourselves, it would have been a weak evasion of manly duty to require Spain to transfer them to some other power or powers, and thus shirk our own responsibility. Even if we had, as we did not have, the power to compel such a transfer, it could not have been made without the most serious international complications."

"Such a course could not be thought of; and yet, had we refused to accept the cessation of them we should have had no power over them, even for their own good. We could not discharge the responsibilities thrust upon us until these islands become ours either by conquest or treaty."

"There was but one alternative, and that was: Either Spain or the United States in the Philippines."

"There was but one alternative, and that was filled in the expulsion of Spanish sovereignty from their islands, and while the war that destroyed it was in progress, we could not ask their views. Nor can we now ask their consent."

"Indeed, can anyone tell me in what form it could be marshalled and ascertained until peace and order, so necessary to the reign of reason, shall be secured and established. A reign of terror is not the kind of rule under which the right action and deliberate judgment are possible. It is not a time for the liberator to submit important questions concerning liberty and government to the liberated while they are engaged in shooting down their rescuers."

DUTIES OF CONGRESS.

"We have now ended the war with Spain. The treaty has been ratified by more than two-thirds of the Senate of the United States, and by the judgment of nine-tenths of its people. No nation was ever more fortunate in war or more honorable in negotiations for peace. Spain is now eliminated from the problem. It remains to ask what we shall do now. I do not intrude upon the duties of Congress or seek to anticipate or forestall its actions. I only say that the treaty of peace, honorably secured, having been ratified by the United States, and as we confidently expect, shortly to be ratified in Spain, Congress will have the power, and I am sure the purpose, to do what in good morals is right and just and humane for these people in distant seas."

"It is sometimes hard to determine what is best to do, and the best thing to do is often times the hardest. The prophet of evil would do nothing because he flinches at sacrifice and effort, and to do nothing is easiest and involves the least cost. On those who have things to do there rests a responsibility which is not on those who have no obligations as doers."

"If the doubters were in a majority there would, it is true, be no labor, no sacrifice, no anxiety and no burden raised or carried; no contribution from our ease and purses and comfort to the welfare of others, or even to the extension of our resources to the welfare of ourselves. There would be ease, but, alas! there would be nothing done."

FUTURE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

"The future of the Philippine islands is now in the hands of the American people."

"If we know everything by intuition—and I sometimes think there are those who believe that; if we do not they do—we should not need information; but, unfortunately, most of us are not in that happy state. The whole subject is now with Congress, and Congress is the voice, the conscience and the judgment of the American people. Upon their judgment and conscience can we not rely? I believe in them, I trust them. I know of no better or safer human tribunal than the people."

THE PRESIDENT'S PLANS.

"Until Congress shall direct otherwise, it will be the duty of the Executive to possess and hold the Philippines giving to the people thereof peace and benefi-cent government, affording them every opportunity to prosecute their lawful pursuits, encouraging them in their industries; making them feel and know we are their friends, not their enemies; that their good is our aim; that their welfare is our welfare, but that neither their aspirations nor ours can be realized until our authority is acknowledged and unquestioned."

"I have no light or knowledge not common to my countrymen. I do not prophesy. The present is all-absorbing to me, but I cannot bound my vision by the blood-stained trenches around Manila, where every red drop, whether from the veins of an American soldier or a misguided Filipino, is anguish to my heart; but by the brought range of future years, when the group of islands, under the impulse of the year just past, shall have become the gems and glories of these tropical seas, a land of plenty and of increasing possibilities, a people redeemed from savage indolence and habits, devoted to the arts of peace, in touch with the commerce and trade of all nations, enjoying the blessings of freedom, of civil and religious liberty, of education and of homes, and whose children and children's shall for ages hence bless the American republic because it emancipated and redeemed their fatherland and set them in the pathway of the world's best civilization."

Consequences of Impure Blood.

Certainly scrofula, if anything, may be called the advertisement of foul blood.
It is the scourge of the world—offensive, painful, debilitating, stubborn. Outward applications do not cure. Emollients may palliate, they cannot abolish the evil.
There is one sure way out, and that is to eliminate the taint from the blood. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is absolutely without an equal.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofulous humor and impure blood and am now almost entirely cured of the eruptions with which I have been afflicted for the past year. My face, chest and back were badly broken out." FRED B. OR-
